

Data Protection Officer (DPO) Certification course

Tired of traditional classroom training? Join us for a full problem-based learning experience.

This complete one-week certification training gives you the "do's and don'ts" and the most effective methodology to comply with GDPR requirements and perform effectively the role and tasks of a DPO under the GDPR.

Description

The training covers an in depth insight of the GDPR and all implementation obligations; a step-by-step model to put in place the necessary privacy compliant data protection and information security policies in your organisation; guidance in the most cost-effective and efficient ways to comply with the GDPR.

The experienced trainers in the programme follow Maastricht University's well-known Problem Based Learning methodology: Throughout our training programme you are stimulated to actively work on real-life issues in order to acquire the skills needed to perform most effectively as a DPO in your organisation. Holding the ECPC-B certification from Maastricht University shows employers you are a knowledgeable professional who has acquired the optimal methodology to manage privacy compliance effectively and interact with the rest of your organization in the fast-changing professional environment in which you need to operate.

Examination

Throughout the course, the following examination elements need to be passed in order to obtain the ECPC-B DPO Professional University Certificate:

- Multiple-choice tests
- Evaluated group assignments under the supervision of tutors
- A final written examination based on a case

After a successful first edition, Vilnius University and the European Centre on Privacy and Cybersecurity, Maastricht University, again join forces and organize for the second time the Data Protection Officer (DPO) Certification course in Vilnius.
